REPUBLICAN SPEAKERS SCORE ADMINISTRATION

Wilson's Policies From Start to Present Characterized as One of Negligence

Senator-elect Bert M. Fernald of Maine; Dr. George B. Hyde of Kingston, and Col. John H. Bartlett of this city were the speakers at a monster rally in the Portsmouth Theatre last evening under the auspices of the Portsmouth Republican City Committee. The speakers characterized the Wilson administration from its opening in 1913 to the present time as one marked by weakness and negligence. The big theatre was well filled and each time the name of Charles D. Hughes, the Republican candidate for the presidency, was mentioned, it was received with prolonged outbursts of applause.

The meeting was opened by Charles W. Gray who officiated as chairman and presented the several speakers. The speakers presented the great issues of the present campaign in a new light to many of those present and the situation in Mexico, as presented by Dr. Hyde, a man who had been a resident of that country for a quarter of a century, the Wilson errors to which there were many in the audience—in an intimate way. Former Governor Fernald touched on the foreign policies and the Mexican policies of the administration to some extent but spent the greater part of his time on a discussion of the tariff question. He was the third speaker, following Dr. Hyde, the first speaker being Mr. Bartlett.

In his talk to the voters of Portsmouth Gov. Fernald said in part:

I am aware that any discussion of present day issues of our country is apt to be mostly concerned with the problems of peace and war. I have no doubt that in your minds at this moment rise questions such as these: Shall we make ready with fleets and armies? What shall we do in Mexico, and are we to be engaged in the great war of Europe. In the wise determination of these issues in which the administration of President Wilson has failed to a large degree, as it seems to me, lie in great measure our national integrity, safety and self-respect.

Every man feels deeply upon these matters and many of us view with alarm what we believe to be the mistakes of a vacillating and capricious procedure in Mexico. The weakness up to this time of the foreign policy, so far as it touches the murder of our citizens on the high seas, and the duty of the nation at once, without further inconsequential conversation in the White House, or futile debate in Congress, to prepare for defense against possible foreign aggression. That preparation looking to the definition of an absolute power to preserve our rights, is one of the most important of the immediate issues. I believe that our present helpless condition instead of tending to peace invites war; I believe that a navy equal to our needs can do more to effect arbitration at the Hague, or elsewhere than all the conventions of the ages. And I, for one, am not afraid to advocate the spending of the money of this nation properly to equip America to stand alongside of other world powers in the great coming confederation of the world, which shall, we hope, end all wars, forever. I believe that this is the general attitude of the rank and file of the Republican party.

The Mexican Policy
I need not go further into the gen-

SUNK BY SUBMARINE WITH AMERICANS ON BOARD.

The British steamship Marina on her back to Newport News, Va., with Americans in her crew, was sunk off the Irish coast by a German submarine.

First reports indicated the submarine had given no warning and that the State Department has not yet authorized law and her pledges to President Wilson. Many members of the crew were lost.

FRENCH TROOPS ADVANCE THEIR LINES

In the Vosges German Attacks Break Down Under French Fire.

Paris, Nov. 1.—French troops have advanced their position nearer to Bapaume during the night. From the south of Lesbouffs the French advanced their line, according to the war office. East of Lesbouffs there was a counter attack near Sully-Sallinset but it was repulsed. The French took ten prisoners. The fighting in the south centered around Les Transais, the main outlying defensive works of Bapaume on the south. In the Vosges the Germans made attacks near Lutzville, but it broke down under the French fire.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Locke of State street announce the marriage of their oldest daughter, Anna Mary, to Mr. Louis Alva James, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. E. James of Louisiana.

RAIDER U-53 ARRIVES BACK IN SAFETY

After Destroying Six English Merchantmen Off Nantucket.

Berlin, via London, Nov. 1.—The German submarine U-53 has returned safely to a German port, according to the official announcement.

The German submarine in command of Lieut. Captain Hans Rose, arrived at Newport, R. I., from Wilhelmshaven on October 7 and departed after a stay of three hours. In the course of the next day the U-53 sank five ships off the American coast.

FIVE AMERICANS IS LIST OF THE CASUALTIES

(Special to The Herald)

London, Nov. 1.—A revised list of Americans lost in the torpedoing of the British freight steamer Marina, contains the names of five Americans, instead of six as first announced.

Wesley Frost, American ambassador at Queenstown, gave out today the following list of Americans who lost their lives:

—Houise, Norfolk.
—Brown, Charlotte, N. C.
—George Sedley, Fayetteville, N. C.
—Hugh Brown, Roanoke, Va.
—Daniel Thomas, Wilmington, Del.

Two German submarines attacked the Marina according to Robert Preston, a member of the crew. There were two submarines visible from the bridge, said Preston. The first torpedo gave the ship a heavy list. The second explosion did not occur until we were clear of the ship. She sank almost immediately. Captain Brown was the coolest man on board. He remained until all were in the boats when he jumped for a boat, missed it and was drowned before our eyes.

SAYS BREMEN HAS GONE TO THE BOTTOM

(Special to The Herald)

New London, Nov. 1.—That the German submarine merchant liner Bremen has gone to the bottom was the declaration of one of the crew, a machinist of the Deutschland. He said that the third and largest of the U liners, the Amerika was at Bremen.

The parade from the Rockingham hotel to the Portsmouth theatre by the Republicans before their big rally last evening was a fine sight.

Hard work for the man on the stump.

George W. Kimball, administrator of Lester E. Kimball, vs. W. M. Lord, Smart & Smart for the complainant; Streeter, Demand, Woodworth and Sulloway for the defendant.

BIDS FOR ONLY TWO SCOUT SHIPS

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Nov. 1.—The navy department this afternoon failed to receive bids for the four scout cruisers authorized. Bids for only three scout ships were received as follows: Fore River Ship Building Company, two ships at $4,900,000.

Seattle Construction Company, one cruiser at $4,975,000.

The Union Iron Company of San

GERMAN U-BOAT DEUTSCHLAND AT NEW LONDON

Passage Across the Atlantic Consumed 21 Days and Storm After Storm Was Encountered

New London, Nov. 1.—The German submarine Deutschland lies today tied up in a pocket, previously prepared for her at the dock of the Eastern Forwarding Company, surrounded by an armed guard and screened by a cordon of other craft, so that she cannot be reached by any hostile craft. The chief officer in an interview said the Deutschland had been obliged to maneuver under British battleships on the trip, and was nearly wrecked by the fierce storms encountered. "We had very bad weather almost the entire voyage. In leaving port we ran into a fleet of British battleships in the English channel and Captain Köhlig maneuvered right under the bottom of one of them but we escaped without being observed. After getting out of the Channel it was a case of one storm after another until four days ago. It stormed so hard that we had to keep submerged the greater part of the time. The weather was so rough that the crew became sea sick owing to the incessant roll of the Deutschland. Four days ago we ran into a calm and we examined the boat and found that she was not much damaged. About midnight we found ourselves off the New England coast and we put at full speed for New London. We found New London an ideal place to get into as well as get out of, as we can submerge at the dock and make our way out into the open sea."

The Deutschland was docked at 2.35 o'clock this morning. The voyage from Bremen was made in twenty-one days, four days longer than it took for the maiden trip to this country.

Captain Paul Koenig stated that all of the crew were well and in good health. They will be quartered on the steamship Willehad during their stay at New London. The submarine's cargo consists of dyes and chemicals such as comprised her cargo on the first voyage. It is said to be worth $1,000,000. It is now believed for a certainty that the sister ship, the Bremen, was either lost at sea or captured by the British.

Francisco made an informal bid for the building of two scout cruisers at actual cost, plus 15 per cent.

CUBANS HOLDING ANNUAL ELECTION

(Special to The Herald)
Havana, Nov. 1.—With soldiers on guard everywhere in the streets and all the saloons closed, Cuba is voting in her election today. The contestants are General Mario Menocal, a conservative who is seeking a re-election, and General Sayas, a Liberal. A vice president is also to be elected.

CANDIDATE HUGHES STATES HIS PLATFORM

Reviews Danbury Hatters' Case for Heckler in Indiana.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 1.—Charles E. Hughes yesterday defined to audience in Indiana the platform on which he is running as follows:

"Let us be true Americans, serving the welfare of the entire people, conserving the American honor, conserving American prosperity, building up the opportunities of labor and counting as our priceless heritage the fact that we do not do things by rule of armies and strength, but by the rule of reason in a community of fair-minded and intent on justice."

"That is my platform fellow citizens. If you want my services, take me on that basis."

Mr. Hughes faced the fourth audience of the day here. He had spoken previously at Columbus, Bedford and Washington to many who had come for miles to hear him. They applauded him frequently. At Columbus and Washington he faced hecklers, the first one saying that he was "an admirer."

Would Maintain Every Right.

This man asked whether the non-interference, if elected, would favor or oppose placing an embargo on munition shipments or the passage of a "war resolution" warning Americans not to travel on merchant vessels of the belligerents.

"I am in favor of the maintenance of every right, including the right of travel and the right of shipment," Mr. Hughes replied. "We must maintain the right to buy. In the absence of a merchant marine such as we should have, we have the need of utilizing the facilities of travel and we must protect American citizens in every right with respect to life, property and commerce as to all nations."

While Mr. Hughes was speaking at Washington a man shouted, "What about the Danbury hatters' case?"

The nominee outlined the history of the case, stating that it first came before the supreme court for determination as to whether the plaintiff had made out a case according to his own statement of it. At that time Mr. Hughes was not a member of the court. It was pointed out, although he was a member when the case came up the second time.

"The question of facts were not before the court," Mr. Hughes said. "They were decided by the jury in the trial court. The only question before the supreme court was whether the trial judge had committed any error in stating the law to the jury."

"One question was whether the members of the union were responsible for the acts of the officers of the union or those who had conducted this alleged boycott which was proved to the satisfaction of the jury. That question was a simple question in the law of agency, for men are always responsible for the acts of those whom they control or whom they authorize."

Whether the men who were defendants in that case knew with respect to the actual transaction what was going on, whether they had given authority to do the things that were done, whether they had participated in the action that was taken, whether they had sufficient information to charge them with knowledge of what was done, these matters were all submitted to the jury who found a verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

Wants Spirit of '76 and '61

"These facts were found as questions of fact by the jury. The court of which I was a member, reviewing the record, could not find any error made by the trial judge in submitting the case to the jury, and hence the judgment of the jury as expressed in its verdict was affirmed. That is a statement of that case, which simply represents how a judge of our high court endeavored to do his duty according to the law of the land."

"One thing needed in this country," Mr. Hughes added, "is to conserve a regard for the fundamental principles of the institutions."

After outlining what he regarded as those principles and assailing the "rule of force," Mr. Hughes said: "Change your laws if you find them bad; perfect your institutions if you want to improve them; proceed according to the rule of reason but don't wreck the finest country God ever saw or gave."

Mr. Hughes told his Washington audience he wanted to see America at peace, but that he did not want to be President of a country that did not have the old spirit of '76 and '61.

"I would not want to be President of a country that thought more of dollars than of human lives," he added.

GIRLS! ACT NOW! HAIR COMING OUT MEANS DANDRUFF

25-cent "Danderine" will save your hair and double its beauty.

Try this! Your hair gets soft, wavy, abundant and glossy at once.

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Keweenaw's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

STATE NEWS

Elect New President of Plymouth Bank

Plymouth, Nov. 1.—At a meeting of the trustees of the Plymouth Guaranty Savings bank held yesterday, Rodney E. Smythe was elected president of that institution to succeed Davis B. Keniston, deceased. Dr. George H. Howles was elected vice president. Dr. John Wheeler was elected to the board of trustees.

State Grange at Laconia

Laconia, Oct. 31.—The state grange held a special meeting with Belknap County Poinciana Grange at the Mount Pleasant Opera house here yesterday. There was a large attendance.

The afternoon program which was opened to the public included: Address of welcome, Luke H. Rickett; response, Wesley Adams, master of the State Grange; address, Frank Knox of Manchester; selection, Cecilia Quartet; vocal solo, Miss Edith Bell Sampson of Rochester; readings, Mrs. Matilda W. Varney of Rochester.

In the evening the officers of the Poinciana Grange conferred the fifth degree on a large class and officers of the State Grange conferred the sixth degree.

Fearful She Killed Herself

Manchester, Nov. 1.—The Manchester police in their efforts to solve the disappearance of Mrs. Josephine Kurouski Page, wife of a Dunbarian farmer, who left her home last Thursday night have learned that on the same evening Mrs. Page was in the Union station here and made inquiries about south-bound trains, especially those to Lowell and Haverhill.

She had been suffering it is said, from a mild form of melancholia for many weeks which gives rise to the theory of self-destruction. Mrs. Page was formerly well known as a social worker in the North End of Boston.

She was 62 years old, though she is said to appear much younger. It is not known that she took any extra clothing with her but she had a bankbook showing deposit of considerable money in a Manchester bank. This deposit has not been drawn upon since she left home.

Case Continued to Nov. 8

Manchester, Nov. 1.—Demetrious Marakopoulos, charged with assault with intent to kill George Makaratis, was arraigned in court today and the case continued until November 8 on the ground that the alleged victim is in the hospital and the result of his wounds uncertain. The man had some trouble in a shoe factory, where they both were employed a week ago. The next day they met at South End street and renewed the altercation, whereupon Marakopoulos is said to have drawn a dagger and stabbed his adversary twice in the back.

Died Soon After Wife

Keene, Nov. 1.—George L. Green, a local business man, who was burned Sunday afternoon, died yesterday at Elliot City hospital. He was about 46 years old. His wife, who was burned at the same time, died Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Green were cleaning out a closet by candle light when a bottle of gasoline was knocked over from a shelf and broke, spreading the flames over the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Green lived in Keene 12 years. Mrs. Green was born in Newburyport, Mass., 44 years ago, a daughter of George and Sarah H. Pearson. They lived in Lynn for a time.

Class of 100 Initiated

Dover, Nov. 1.—Quaccho and Prescott Esquimaux of Odd Fellows held an "Old Night" at Odd Fellows hall last night.

More than 100 members of the order from this city, Rochester, Seneca, Berwick, South Berwick and Salmon Falls were initiated into the Grand Orient, a side degree, by a local degree staff. Nearly 400 were present. A banquet followed the work.

It is stated that this degree has been worked only once before here in 22 years.

Road Patrolmen Meet

Keene, Nov. 1.—The fourth annual meeting and banquet of the State Road Patrolmen's Association of Division four was held here yesterday afternoon. There were about 125 present.

Division Engineer Clarence M. Brooks was toastmaster of the banquet. The speakers of the afternoon included Hon. Frederick E. Everett of Concord, State Highway Commissioner; Hon. Stoddard B. Bates of Derby, Vt., State Highway Commissioner; A. L. Wiggin of Augusta, Me., of the Maine Highway Commission; Hon. Olin H. Chase of Newport, State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles; Hon. C. G. Shield of Keene and W. C. Conklin, president of the Keene Commercial club.

SAYS WE BECOME CRANKS ON HOT WATER DRINKING

Hopes every man and woman adopts this splendid morning habit.

Why is man and woman half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms poisonous-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary, is it to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. It is a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile, and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

VIRGINIA WENT DRY AT MID-NIGHT.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 31.—This was the last day on which intoxicating beverages may be sold legally in Virginia. At midnight tonight the new prohibition law goes into effect and about 300 saloons in the state will have closed their doors for the last time.

Reports from all parts of the state today told of large quantities of liquor being stored away in the homes of citizens in anticipation of a dry state. In this city thousands of gallons are said to have been delivered to private homes.

The law stipulates that a person may order from another state but one quart of whiskey per month, three gallons of beer or one gallon of wine. This right remains to be tested in the courts.

CANADIAN TROOPS

ARRIVE SAFELY
Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 31.—Official announcement was made yesterday that the following Canadian troops have arrived safely in England: 155th, 156th, 157th, and 160th Ontario battalions, half of the 169th Ontario battalion and drafts of Strathcona battalion, 96th battalion and medical corps.

Be as good a fellow, November, as was October, and that will be good enough.

MANCHESTER POLICE CHIEF SLAMS "TAGGERS"

SAYS THERE IS NO DIFFERENCE BETWEEN "TAG DAY" AND PAN HANDLING, AND CALLS WORKERS "LEECHES."

Manchester, Oct. 31.—In an interview given to the press this morning Chief of Police Healy placed "tag day" solicitors in the same class with "pan-handlers."

"If a man on the street," said Chief Healy, "asks you for a dime to buy a plate of beans he is violating the law and is liable to the infliction of a penalty. Begging is prohibited by statute. But what difference is there between begging and the soliciting of funds by the 'tag day' method? Anybody can turn down the ordinary beggar, and he will go about his business, but if one turns down a 'tag day' solicitor he has not escaped. They follow one up with the pertinacity of a leech and only by an abrupt 'get-away' is a 'hold-up' avoided."

"Tag days" are frequent in the city but they meet with no approval and get no privileges granted by the police department. Last Saturday was Armenian and Syrian "tag day" and tomorrow will be observed as Lithuanian "tag day." Jewish "tag day" was observed last winter and indications are that rapid succession of "tag days" are more than likely to feature the immediate future of the city. It is reported that Polish "tag day" will be observed next week.

Seven small European nations have become involved in the present war. Four of these have been devastated and if not already in the immediate future thousands of their peoples, starving, will be in need of aid from the rich neutrals. By proclamation of the president a week ago last Saturday was set aside as a day upon which money should be raised for the Armenians and Syrians and a similar proclamation has designated tomorrow for the benefit of the Lithuanians.

There is no question that the hearts of Americans go out in sympathy to the starving thousands in the battle-torn nations of Europe. There is no question but that they are willing and eager to aid them.

"They get no privileges from me," continued the chief. "I don't believe in 'tag days' because I can see no difference between them and begging. It's a good thing to help people who are suffering and in need, but public begging is no way to get funds."

As one man suggested this morning if "tag days" must continue why not have one big one, designed to raise one immense sum for the relief of all the suffering nations. And let it be announced that it is the very last one of all. The man who made this suggestion declared that if the people knew they were contributing to the aid of all at one time they would contribute much more generously and that the returns would be greater than from a number of lesser days.

ROUMANIANS TURNING ON TEUTON PURSUERS

Halt Drive Into Their Country and are Giving
Battle 55 Miles North of Cernavoda-Constanza Railroad.

Berlin, Oct. 31.—Mackensen's pursuing forces in Dobruja are engaged with the Russo-Rumanians for the first time since the enemy retreated from Cernavoda-Constanza railway line.

A dispatch received here today said that the Rumanians have reformed their lines and are offering resistance on a line about 55 miles north of the railway. Sharp fighting began Sunday night, but has not yet assumed the proportions of a general engagement. It is believed here that the enemy is attempting a stubborn rear-guard action to cover withdrawal of artillery across the Danube.

On the Transylvanian border, the Rumanians have suffered heavily in a series of counter attacks south of Vulkan pass. Only skirmishes are reported on the northern Rumanian front.

Portuguese Capture Newala in East Africa

Lisbon, via Paris, Oct. 31.—Portuguese troops in German East Africa have defeated the German forces, captured Newala and taken a large quantity of guns and other war material, says today's war office announcement. The text reads:

"Portuguese troops in East Africa, after advancing 125 miles, defeated the enemy after a short struggle on Oct. 25, and took Newala. The enemy retreated precipitately. The Portuguese forces captured a large quantity of bombs, dynamite, guns and war material. Their losses were light."

Defeat, Efforts by French and British Forces to Advance.

Berlin, Oct. 31, via wireless to Sayville.—Attempts of the French and British troops on the Somme front, near Lesbois and La Malsonette, to advance yesterday were defeated by the Germans, the war office announced today.

Strong French attacks against Abbeville and on both sides of the Chaulnes-Labon road were not carried out, being broken up in the face of withering defensive fire.

The Verdun front during the past 24 hours experienced unusual quiet. Only in the St. Mihiel district was there any real action on the Meuse front.

Russian troops yesterday attacked the German lines near Krashin, in the Shara district, but met with a sanguinary repulse, according to today's army headquarters announcement.

Winter weather has set in on the Transylvanian front, today's statement revealed.

"On the southern frontier mountain engagements continue in spite of a heavy snow storm," the report stated.

The Rumanians vainly endeavored to retake heights captured by the Germans north of Campulung and North of Orsova, the statement declared.

On the upper Styria successes were reported in minor engagements.

"Further south," said the statement, "German regiments took important heights and repulsed Russian counter-attacks. Four officers, 170 men and nine machine guns were captured."

Engagements in the Beresteck region, on the Lemberg front in Galicia and along the upper Styria resulted favorably to the Germans. On the east bank of the Narayvka southeast of Lemberg, Turkish troops took several Russian positions.

Roumans Continue to Drive Teutons Northward

Petrograd, Oct. 31.—Rumanian forces continue to drive the Austro-Germans northward in the Jiu valley and have taken 300 prisoners and four machine guns, it was officially announced.

Along the river Alt, fierce battles are proceeding. In the region of Rastent enemy attacks were repelled. The situation in Dobruja is unchanged.

On the Austro-German front in Volhynia the Russians captured foremost enemy trenches in the region of Pustoyty and Oschev on the Lutsk fortress front, and consolidated the newly won positions. Enemy counter attacks near Oschev were repulsed.

South of Berezany, in the regions of Mielshchew and Lipthadolina, successive enemy attacks were repelled, the Russians making a number of prisoners.

10,071 Rumanians Captured in Three Weeks

Berlin, via Sayville, wireless, Oct. 31.—Gen. von Falkenhayn's forces have captured 151 Rumanian officers and 9,920 men since Oct. 10, the war office announced today.

booty included 37 cannons, 47 machine guns, one flag and much other war material.

BIG WILSON BETS COVERED AT ODDS

About $18,000 was placed yesterday in New York city at odds of 10 to 9 on Hughes. The Wilson letters at the close demanded 10 to 3 1-2.

The largest wagers on President Wilson are said to have come from Nevada and the Pacific coast. From this section $50,000 is said to have been placed at 3 to 10.

Tex Rickard, who says he is a betting man without political prejudices, declared last night that there was an enormous amount of Hughes money in sight, but that it was in the pockets of hard-headed business men who refused to give the odds asked by the Wilson backers.

Mr. Rickard said he had bet $1,000 yesterday on Hughes at 10 to 9, but that the greater part of his money had gone on the presidential results in Ohio, where he was backing Wilson to carry the state.

REPUBLICAN SPEAKERS SCORE ADMINISTRATION

eral discussion of the foreign policy of the Wilson administration than to say that in my opinion the Mexican policy of the present administration merits nothing but pity. It has been largely a misuse of the executive power of this nation—the pulling down of the strong in an effort to set up the weak, and a steady progress in bad policy, one mistake after another, until now we are in Mexico with our troops, sacrificing lives for reasons which most of our publicists declare to be the personal and sordid purposes of American conspirators. I can say nothing more true or more appropriate on this point than was recently said by ex-President Roosevelt, or in these words which ex-Secretary Root said in New York the other day: "For the death and outrage, the suffering and ruin of our brethren, the hatred and contempt for our country, and the dishonor of our name in that land, the administration at Washington shares responsibility with the inhuman brutes with whom it made a common cause."

Is the Tariff Old-Fashioned?

I have been told that this subject is old-fashioned, that it has been obscured by the greater world progress, but I say to you that such obscurity is but temporary. This world war will cease, the trumpets will sound recall and the men from the trenches of Europe will return to the farm and the factory. Then my friends, you will see this issue take its place again, not in your newspapers alone, not in your politics, but in your dinner table, on your tables, in your bank accounts, and in the perplexing problems of the solvency of the bankruptcy of your business. No man knows when it will come—there is need to be ready for its coming. There is a preparedness for peace, as well as preparedness for war; and if that peace means the lumping upon this land anew of all the products of farm and factory created by the hordes of Europe and by Canada's underpaid labor, you and I, as farmers, and men of affairs, want to know it in season to vote against it, and to send men to Washington to register those votes where they belong.

The Underwood tariff became a law October 3, 1913; the European war broke out August 1, 1914. The interim of about ten months affords the only accurate test of the effect of this law. It was to be feared from its framing that it would be a severe blow to agriculture and business. The particular purpose of its schedules seemed to be to retain most of the products of the South on the protected list and pit most of the products of the North on the free list. Do any of you appreciate how dark and forbidding were the clouds that hung over us in those months from August 1913, to August 1914. Have you ever analyzed conditions in that period to find out what this Underwood tariff was doing to you? I propose to show you how it robbed us of our home market; how it had begun to lower the standards of life; how it was bankrupting prosperous concerns affiliated with agriculture; how it was ruining whole classes of farming industry, and how it was arousing the opposition of the valuers to its unjust classification or rates all through the North wherever its paralyzing influence was felt. Nothing but the European war which put everything on the protected list, and which suspended from that hour the unjust and iniquitous operations of the law by the abrupt cessation of foreign commerce and the call of foreign labor to the trenches relieved the farmers from business depression to a degree unheard of before in the history of our land, and which must ultimately have brought us to complete business prostration and widespread bankruptcy. And finally I want to emphasize this assertion, that if this law continues to prevail, as it will continue under the democratic party in spite of all the assertions to the contrary, these conditions will again be restored at the close of the war and the effect of the Underwood tariff will be felt with redoubled force upon you and me, and at other men engaged in tilling the soil.

There are two reasons why the Underwood tariff laws inflict tremendous injury upon the country. In the first place the principle upon which they are based is extremely antagonistic to national welfare. Secondly, they are framed by inexperienced men of no business training, who know nothing of manufacturing, of the law of supply and demand, or of the cost of production and distribution.

The details of a tariff bill affect every phase of commercial and industrial life. The men who framed the present law have had no experience along these lines.

When congress met in extra session in the very beginning of the present administration to enact the new tariff law a ways and means committee was appointed. It consisted of fourteen

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Rub Backache away with small trial bottle of old, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Lumber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

Democrat and seven Republicans. The former, of course, assumed all the work. Were they business men, experienced in manufacturing, or thoroughly familiar with the operations of the commercial and industrial world? Not at all. Mr. Underwood, the chairman, was serving his tenth consecutive term in congress, and if he had any business experience previous to his twenty years of congressional service, he failed to note the fact in his autobiography in the Congressional Record. The profession of the other thirteen members was as follows:

Harrison, New York, lawyer; Shackleford, Missouri, lawyer; Dixon, Indiana, lawyer; Hull, Tennessee, lawyer; Hammond, Minnesota, lawyer; Peckers, Massachusetts, lawyer; Palmer, Pennsylvania, lawyer; Ausberry, Ohio, lawyer; Garner, Texas, lawyer; Collier, Mississippi, lawyer; Stanley, Kentucky, lawyer.

I certainly mean no disrespect to the lawyers, as I have the highest regard for the legal profession, and would feel the same toward a committee made up of any one business or profession; but as they have little to do with business except to give advice on legal questions; prepare articles of incorporation, and draw contracts or leases, and prosecute or defend, when litigation is necessary, I submit that it is an entirely unfair committee to prepare, without some advice from other business men, a tariff bill so sweeping in its effect. And yet the dominant party entrusted to lawyers and lawyers only, the preparations of schedules which vitally affect every business interest of the country. Is it any wonder that the law proved a failure, that it wrecked property and created havoc in practically every line of business? It could not be otherwise. Even its language was so incorrect or uncertain that the administration and the courts have difficulty in construing its provisions. This we do know—that while it struck a deadly blow to the farmers of Maine and industries of New England, it did maintain a duty on most products of the South, as stated in a previous paragraph. We know that it has been the Democratic politicians in congress from the Southern states who have done the mischief. It is unfortunately true that these men are for the most part politicians and nothing more. Most of them have had no experience in any other industry but law, or law-making and many of them have been in congress or some political office so long that they have acquired a sort of contemptuous feeling towards the industrial affairs by which the great majority of their fellow men must live. The business men of the South have not been fairly represented in congress. There interest and their wishes are not different from those of the business man of the North or West; and these southern business men have been injured, and know that they are injured by the dominance of the politicians in their section, and they are, for the most part, in entire sympathy with the policies of the business men throughout the country to put an end to these dangerous conditions.

The question of the Tariff is not so blind and intricate as is generally supposed, but explained briefly, it amounts to this: If we purchase goods abroad, the foreigner has the money; we have the goods; if purchased in this country, we have the goods and the money too. A certain quantity of merchandise is necessary to supply the needs of our people. If these goods are produced or manufactured abroad it detracts just so much from the business of our own country. As a simple illustration: Let us assume that it requires annually one hundred million pairs of shoes to supply the needs of the American people. If any part of these are manufactured abroad it lessens the opportunity for labor in our own country; robs the working men of employment which is rightfully his; discourages manufacturing; paralyzes industry. If the shoes are manufactured here, it gives employment to labor, encourages industry, enriches commerce; adds to the prosperity of the whole country. This one example will suffice, as it is applicable to all manufactured goods, and the products of the farmer as well.

Huerta Should Have Been Recognized
The opinion of Dr. Hyde, a man who had spent more than 25 years in Mexico, gave a new insight into the troubles of that country, and Dr. Hyde firmly believes that much of the trouble between the United States and Mexico would have been avoided had a strong man been at the head of the American nation. Wilson's first error in dealing with Mexico, in Dr. Hyde's opinion, was in his refusal to recognize Mr. Huerta as the president of the republic.

He told of the events leading to the elevation of Huerta to the presidency. Under Diaz Mexico had prospered, he said, but Diaz was old and was losing his grip. Madero led a revolt which was successful and he was elected president of Mexico, a government established and a congress set to make the laws. The government was constitutional in every respect. Huerta was the Minister of War, the second highest office in the cabinet. Felix Diaz led a revolt against the Madero government which was not successful; Huerta putting it down. Madero resigned and his resignation was accepted by Congress. The vice president resigned at the same time. The Secretary of state, the highest cabinet officer, was the next in line of succession, and was sworn into office. He was president for 24 hours. On his resignation Huerta was sworn into office as provisional president, on Feb. 23, 1913.

Dr. Hyde said that Huerta assumed his office as president of Mexico in strict accordance with the constitutional government and "he was just as much the provisional president of Mexico as is President Wilson today the provisional president of the United States." On March 4 President Wilson took the oath of office as President of the United States, and at once refused to recognize Mr. Huerta as the Mexican president, claiming that he had not gained the office in accordance with the rulings of the constitution but by assassination.

Dr. Hyde said that Huerta was not responsible for the killing of Madero. Madero was a prisoner in the national palace, together with his vice president. The former president's wife did not believe him safe there and requested that he be removed to jail. It was a distance of three miles to the jail and Huerta granted the request. This was several days after Huerta was sworn into office.

As the prisoner was being transported across the city about 1000 of his friends made an attempt to rescue him from his carriage. He was removed from the carriage and was instantly shot by one of the guards whose duty it was to see that he was not allowed to escape.

Admiral Mayo Ordered Away

Dr. Hyde spoke of the order issued to Admiral Mayo at Tampico when 400 or more American refugees were about to be taken aboard the American fleet for protection from the bandits under Villa and Carranza, which were closing in on the city of Tampico. The order was issued by President Wilson and "to the shame of America," said Dr. Hyde, "1,000 American and other refugees had to be removed to safety by going aboard British and German war ships which remained in the harbor."

Salute to Flag Demanded
While at Tampico several U. S. Marines went ashore and approached within the lines of a battlefield where an engagement was taking place between the Mexican government troops and bandits under Carranza and Villa. They were arrested by Mexican soldiers but were released a few hours later and the officer offered an apology for his act.

President Wilson refused to accept the apology and demanded that Huerta apologize and salute the American flag. Huerta had not been recognized as president and he refused to comply with the demands of Wilson. Wilson ordered the American fleet to proceed to Vera Cruz and "take the Customs House and the city peacefully." "Imagine taking territory with armed men peacefully," said Dr. Hyde, "but that was the order of the president. The forces were landed, twenty Americans were laid in the dust of the streets of Vera Cruz and 600 Mexicans were killed. The United States took charge of the city, made a model city of it and it became a refuge for all who were being harassed by the bandits under Villa and Carranza, who were now varring on each other."

When Wilson took office there was an embargo on the shipment of arms into Mexico from this country. Wilson lifted this embargo to allow the shipment of arms to the Carranza and the Villa forces but not to the federal government under Huerta. He blocked the proposed French loan to Huerta's government, he sent Mr. Lind to prevent the election of Huerta to the presidency; and at that time, when Villa was making gains against Carranza, he suddenly recalled the American forces and Carranza went into the city for protection, proclaimed himself provisional president and was recognized by Wilson.

Huerta was out, and he had still not saluted the flag. All this and more was told by Dr. Hyde. He said that during the time Huerta was in control of the government not an American life was endangered and not an inch of American owned property was troubled. With the advent of Carranza, a farmer and a religious bigot, who believes that by an edict he can change 95 per cent of the Mexican people from Roman Catholics to his beliefs in religious matters, the present reign of terror was started.

Dr. Hyde spoke for three quarters of an hour on the atrocities perpetrated in Mexico and on this side of the border and charged the president with doing nothing to stop them. His weakness and short-sightedness was responsible for all of the trouble, according to the speaker. He urged the election of Mr. Hughes as a man who would and could command the respect of the world and who would force the nations to recognize the rights of Americans on land and sea.

Mr. Bartlett urged the election of Mr. Hughes after pointing out the many weaknesses and cases of neglect of the President. He discussed the Adanson Bill, calling it a "gold brick" in the Y. M. C. A. parlor on Thursday as has now become recognized by the men who forced its passage. He said that at the end of the European war the nations whose manhood has been killed off by American arms and munitions are going to collect their price and under Wilson, should he be re-elected, they will and can collect it, for Wilson is too proud to fight, even for the protection of the lives of the people he has sworn to protect. He said that the election of Mr. Hughes did not mean war for a strong man doesn't need to fight. He said that Wilson was like a man who was in the company of his wife on the street when she was attacked by ruffians, runs home, and brags to his children that "he kept out of a fight."

Something Besides Statistics Needed.

At the annual congress of the American Prison Association in Buffalo a few weeks ago William T. Cross, general secretary of the National Conference of Charities and Correction, emphasized the need of statistics in connection with the efforts to combat crime. He declared that the lack of a rational, comprehensive system of criminal statistics in the United States is one of the worst evidences to condemn us in the eyes of the scientific world. Mr. Cross said that "to be reliable and most useful criminal statistics must be so correlated as to represent a continuous and complete view of the offender and of the process of treatment, beginning with his first overt act; the report of the offense, apprehension, preliminary custody, trial, conditional liberation, incarceration under sentence, and after-care." Much more he had to offer on the subject, all tending to convey the idea that the most serious defect in the criminal procedure of the country is the lack of proper statistics.

The laymen is not in a position to understand this subject as thoroughly as those who are making a constant study of it, and there is always more or less risk in challenging positions taken by specialists along any line. But specialists are so numerous today that the common people must stand their ground occasionally or throw up their hands and admit that they know nothing of many matters that concern them very intimately.

They are hardly prepared to make this admission, and it is well that this is so. While there is plenty of work for the specialists in certain fields, there is also plenty of room for the exercise of what is commonly known as "horse sense," and when this ceases the specialists will be unable to save us.

It may be that criminal statistics should be more extensive and complete than they are, but it will be just as well to face the fact that crime will never be banished by statistics. It will probably never be completely banished by any means, but the most available and promising means is a rigid enforcement of the laws, without fear, favor or pamperism. It is no credit to the United States that it has by far the worst murder record of any civilized country in the world, and this condition is not due to the lack of statistics. It is due to causes that are well understood, and which should be removed with all possible promptness. Statistics are all right in their place, but they will never protect us from crime. For this something sterner than figures is needed, and will have to be applied before the desired relief is experienced.

Billy Sunday will soon open his campaign in Boston, but it is given out that censorship will be exercised to a certain extent and that the noted evangelist has already been "warned" that attacks on different denominations will not be tolerated by the committee having the campaign in charge. It is also said that the terms have been accepted. If this is true there will be lacking some of the "spice" that has characterized Mr. Sunday's work in other cities, yet it is quite easy to believe that the "deletion" will constitute an improvement.

People who have been traveling in Germany report a great deal of sickness in the cities there, which is believed to have been caused by eating canned goods. The disease is known as "tin sickness" and is regarded as a serious form of blood poisoning. But the conscience of the United States is clear. The canned goods didn't go from this country.

The Department of Agriculture decrees that oranges and grape-fruit must not be sweated while in transportation from state to state, as this would be a violation of the pure food law. But the dealers are still at liberty to sweat the public to their hearts' content.

A few hunters have been killed, but the record of accidental shootings in the woods thus far has not been especially startling. It is to be hoped it will not come up to those of some past years.

A stone crashed through a window of the "dry" special in Indiana the other day. No one was hurt, but the incident should hardly fail to furnish one more argument for the "cause."

A dispatch from Rome says that no notable discoveries or inventions are growing out of the war. Has the British "lank" so soon fallen from its high estate?

The Connecticut milk farmers are on strike, but there is nothing to denote any disturbance in the nutmeg trade in that portion of Yankeeedom.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Tariff in Politics.
(From the New York Commercial.
Indt. Rep.)

An election day approaches it becomes evident that the tariff is the real issue of the campaign. Appeals to racial prejudices are ephemeral in character and the electorate is not unduly excited about the Mexican question. The country has escaped the horrors of war and is prosperous. The people wish to remain prosperous and are taking more interest in economic problems that will affect business after peace is restored than in anything else discussed by the newspapers and platform speakers.

By creating a tariff commission the Democrats in Congress admit that the tariff is still a live issue and that it must be adjusted to meet conditions as they develop. By finding fault with the Underwood tariff bill the Republicans make a similar profession. A few fossilized free traders and stand-patters still stick to their guns, but the rank and file of both parties realize that changes must come and that there is nothing sacred about old doctrines of political economy. The greatest good for the greatest number is the sole principle on which a tariff should be framed.

In framing a customs tariff two objects must be kept in view. The country must pay its way by levying taxes, and part of the national revenue should be derived from duties on imports. This revenue feature is universal. A revenue tariff necessarily affords some protection to domestic industries if levied on articles that can be produced at home.

As long as it is necessary to raise a national revenue, and it will always be necessary, the development of domestic industries cannot be disregarded in fixing duties to be imposed on imports. By broadening the protective capacity of the country it becomes independent of the machinations of foreign producers. We cannot control the price of anything for which we depend absolutely on foreign producers and merchants. We must pay whatever price they fix if we cannot produce it at home. Laws against conspiracies in restraint of trade do not run beyond the three-mile limit.

Our tariff commission should study the revenue requirements of the nation and the state of domestic industries so that a tariff may be framed that will produce an adequate revenue and at the same time protect domestic manufacturers from unfair competition in all cases. Where the welfare of the country would be advanced by fostering an industry that cannot compete at first with foreign producers it should receive reasonable protection. As party lines are now drawn such a policy violates no principles entertained by the rank and file of any party of importance. Louisiana and International Democrats want reasonable protection for sugar, and the Carolinas and Georgia favor duties on cotton goods. There are no free traders in this country outside the ranks of the foreign importing houses in New York city.

John Bull And the Wily Jap
(From New York Mail)

In every part of the world except the Far East the British are extending their trade lines. There the Japanese are improving each shining hour to stick the bayonet into their friend and ally, John Bull.

China's trade does not suffice for the Japanese. They have visions of a far wider field. One indication of how they are broadening their lines is furnished by the "Japan Weekly Chronicle" in its report of the exports of cotton yarn for the first six months of this year. These amounted to yen 46,911,058, an increase of yen 5,271,750 over the previous six months and of yen 21,938,372 over the corresponding six months of 1915.

China got the largest amount, followed in order by Korea, British India, Kwangtung, Siberia, Hong Kong, Australia, Dutch East Indies, Straits Settlements, Hawaii and the Philippines. The highest rate of increase was in India, followed by Siberia, while the business with the Philippines decreased 50 per cent.

If this thing is not checked John Bull soon will see a yellow peril just as he saw a German peril.

"Wall Street's Candidate"
(From the Brooklyn Standard-Union.
Rep.)

When Charles Evans Hughes undertook the investigation of the insurance business in this city the four principal life companies had, by means of the deferred dividend scheme, more surplus capital at their disposal than was contained in the United States Treasury, the Bank of England and the Bank of France combined. The Money Trust was well represented in the directorates of these companies. There was a regular "yellow dog" fund for use in the Legislatures of the country. In direct violation of the law interlocking companies were formed, and the insurance surplus was used in these and other ways to control the markets of this country and the world.

One great crime, in particular, the Money Trust committed. Hundreds of thousands of men in moderate circumstances who insured their lives had to pay a much higher rate than there was any necessity for. Thus, many a man was unable to send his boy or girl to college or perhaps to keep them in high school because of the extortion practiced on him by the pirates of high finance.

Charles Evans Hughes broke up the infamous combination. And because he did and the people elected him Governor of this state and backed him in the radical insurance reforms he procured for their protection he is loved by Wall Street and the Money Trust as the devil is said to love holy water. Our Manhattan temporary who call Hughes a Wall Street candidate should remember Lincoln's saying as to the impossibility of fooling the people all the time.

SATURDAY'S CAMPAIGN OUTLINED

The War Relief Committee, of which the mayor is honorary chairman, met last evening to make final plans for its appeal for Armenian Relief on Saturday and Sunday next. The city is to be divided into ten sections, in each of which there will be a captain and headquarters. There will be automobiles going from one section to another. General headquarters will be at the North Church chapel, on Middle street, named for the purpose.

Camp-Fire Girls will canvas the residential part of the city, and Boy Scouts the business district. All will wear a broad red band, bearing the words "Armenian and Syrian Relief," and will carry collection boxes specially marked. They will also carry small American flags attractively put up to be pinned on the clothing, and every one giving ten cents or more will be entitled to receive one of these.

It is intended that every one in the city should have a chance this week to give at least once to meet this great need. Many will have an opportunity to give again through some church on Sunday. Money may at any time be sent to John M. McPhee (local treasurer of war relief), First National Bank. Surely no one will want to be without some share in helping the little children.

The Honorable Henry Morgenthau, ex-ambassador to Turkey, says of these poor children: "If the people of the United States could only see the distress as I have seen it, if they could see the giant little figures of children, the need of prompt aid would be fully realized. I wish I had the power to picture an Armenian refugee encampment, and to tell how the American missionary hospital fed from its back door a thousand starving persons a day, on an average of three cents a person, with the $30 we gave it."

A word from a person who has seen with her own eyes the suffering of girls and boys gives a realistic view: "Mr. — was trying to help some sick people out of the big schoolroom when he saw a tired and weary woman with a baby in her arms sitting in one of the seats, and said to her, 'Where do you stay?' She said, 'Just here.' 'How long have you been here?' 'Since the beginning (two months),' she replied. 'How do you sleep at night?' 'I lay the baby on the desk in front of me, and I have this post at the back to lean against. This is a very good place. Thank you very much!'

This committee is trying first to feed and clothe, then restore the people to some sort of shelter which they can call home. In Turkey $5 will keep 82 people alive a day or three people a month. You can see from this how much good your contribution will do. Funds are distributed, in Turkey through the American embassy, and in Tiflis, Russia and Tabriz, Persia, through American consuls, with no expense to the committee.

Through the assistance of former Ambassador Morgenthau and others who enlisted the personal interest of President Wilson, the Navy Department has been directed by the President to permit a ship load of relief supplies to go by government collector to Beirut, Syria. The collector is expected to leave New York this week with flour, wheat, rice, beans and a limited quantity of clothing and dispatched to Syria with the least possible delay. It will require, at least probably a half million dollars to load this vessel. Other shipments will have to follow to provide for the winter's demands.

A JOKE TO THE GIRLS IN TEXAS

No Use for Unkissed Harvard Types With Wrist Watches.

The New York Telegram published the following on the experience of a former Portsmouth young man in Texas:

Puritanical Boston was shocked a few days ago when William James Skids returned to that center of culture and codfish from Houston, Texas, where he had been a teacher of mathematics at the Rice Institute and told his friends he was practically forced to resign his professorship and flee from Texas because the girls of the Lone Star State were beseeching him with proposals of marriage. Texas girls were bold and flirted too much, he said.

Today the answer to his slur on the carefree, horseback riding and athletic young Texas women is flung into his face—flung is the word—by Miss Delia Hains, of Dallas, Texas, who is in New York to study art. A meeting between these two people would be the most interesting event of the day. Ten to one the professor would wilt and take back everything he said about Texas girls if he had to listen to what Miss Hains had to say about him.

Skids, when he was a student at Harvard a decade ago, was known as the "infant prodigy." He entered the university when little more than a child and was graduated at the age when most students usually enter a high school. On leaving Harvard he announced he would never kiss a girl until he married. Well, maybe Texas heard about that before Professor Skids arrived.

"This Mr. Skids is evidently the type of the male sex that does not fit into the State of Texas," said Miss Hains who had just returned to her apartment after a ride in the park. She is an unusually attractive woman of 20, but is as convincing in her talk and as firm in her opinions as a woman twice her age. Tall, with blue eyes that are accentuated by dark eye-brows and long eyelashes, she made a striking picture as she voiced her opinion of William James Skids and his type.

"My candid opinion is that this professor will never recover from his 'infant prodigy' days," said Miss Hains as she cuddled into the corner of a couch to discuss the man who had condemned girls. "I have lived in Texas all my life, and I never saw a girl chase a man to marry him. We marry when we are ready and when we do take unto ourselves a husband we take one that was not raised on dead languages and Harvard etiquette. Harvard is all right I suppose, but if young Mr. Skids is a typical example of its output it is educating in the wrong direction.

"Tell me truthfully," asked the young woman, looking her interviewer in the eye, "do you believe what Mr. Skids has said?"

It was an embarrassing moment for the reporter. He hemmed and he coughed and pulled at his collar, and finally got courage to say that if Miss Hains was a true type of Texas girl he thought Professor Skids should be shot at sunrise.

"Oh, if I could only catch that gentleman in Texas some time went on the speaker, 'I'd put up a job on him. What would I do? I'd take him horseback riding. I'd tie him to the world's horse I could find, and I'd make him see that Texas women could do more than flirt."

"The ideal I never knew a Texas girl to flirt any more than a Boston girl, and I have known a few of them. In fact, we girls in Texas meet men as we find them. But how this 'infant prodigy' ever got the idea that all Texas was flirting with him puzzles me. Ask the Texas girls who met this gentleman how they liked him. It will be a sad story, I bet."

"I have nothing but contempt for his statement. It is untrue and not worthy of notice. I bet that he is a sissy, sports a wrist watch, and wears his handkerchief in his sleeve. Texas girls love that type of man—don't they though? The truth is that they discovered he was a 'Nancy' who had never been kissed, and they 'kidded' him and he took it seriously."

"If you should see William James Skids," said Miss Hains, in parting, "give him my regards and tell him not to forget and let his wrist watch run down. And tell him I hope to meet him—in Texas."

PEOPLES' OPINIONS.

Not All One Way.

Editor—In a recent issue some ambiguous person who signed "One Who Knows," said the Hebrew vote of Portsmouth was almost unanimous for Hughes. While our motto is, and always has been for our adopted country first, and we do not intend to get in any cheap political discussion, we cannot let such a statement go on record as the truth and unchallenged. While some of our race are undoubtedly for Hughes, the majority who are residents and voters in Portsmouth, have openly declared their preference for

Wilson and firmly believe that Vice President Marshall was right when he stated that eight hours was right for a day's work, as Solomon worked his laborers eight hours a day in the building of his Temple, and Solomon has always been considered a very wise man. This no doubt will be credited by "One Who Knows."

AMERICAN AVIATORS LOSE THEIR LIVES

When Machine Overturns in Mid Air Near Nancy in France.

(Special to The Herald)

Paris, Nov. 1.—Two American aviators, members of the French flying squadron while flying in an aeroplane in the vicinity of Nancy, were killed, says a dispatch received here. While in midair the machine upset and the pilot was crushed under the motor and the observer fell from his seat and was killed. The dispatch did not give the names.

ENTERTAINED FRIENDS

The Misses Raynes Hold Pleasing Halloween Party.

The Misses Ruth Kennard and Frances Shaw Raynes, daughters of Counsellman and Mrs. Mortimer L. Raynes of Richards avenue entertained a party of twelve of their young friends at a Halloween party on Tuesday evening, from 6 to 10 o'clock. The time was very pleasantly passed with Halloween games and the hour for departure came altogether too soon to suit the young people. During the evening refreshments of ice cream, cake and candies were served. The affair will be pleasantly remembered by those fortunate enough to be present for a long time to come.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Today starts a twenty-weeks' season of pure enjoyment for those who like mustard in their moving pictures, as today will be shown the first chapter of the greatest serial of the age, "Liberty," at the Colonial. Every Wednesday and Thursday hereafter for the time mentioned will be shown a chapter of this grand continued picture. When you have seen the first instalment of "Liberty" it will need no further advertising. It is thrilling to a degree, and so pertinent and timely that it will fairly take you off your feet. The scenes are laid along the Mexican border, that most ground which has been a bone of contention for centuries. The recent activities there have brought it sharply into the limelight and therefore this serial concerning as it does the activities of that region, comes at the most opportune time. There is a love story entangled in the fighting, whirling action of the play, which for burning heart interest has never been equalled.

"Take this in conjunction with Bob Ott, chief of the laughsters, and you have some show. Today and tomorrow he will present "Boys and Girls" with nothing in it like anything he has shown here except the same fine company of artists. The songs are right up with the minute, the dresses are built along the same lavish lines which characterize all the Ott shows, and the famous Ott chorus is prepared to make you sit up and take notice.

There is a fine picture program arranged for these two days, including beside the new serial "Liberty," a Mutual masterpiece and others.

Thursday night will be the biggest novelty ever shown in Portsmouth. A Big Fashion Show, all the latest creations in gowns, suits, and millinery at Everybody's Store, imported from Paris, Boston and New York, will be displayed by twelve Portsmouth belles. Names will be announced tomorrow. Watch newspapers.

THESE FEW DONT'S FOR NEW HUNTERS MAY SAVE LIVES

The conservation of human life is worth while. These don'ts are intended for the new crop of youngsters who will go into the woods and fields for the first time. It is also intended for those who are careless.

Don't point firearms at any human being or domestic animal. Keep the muzzle towards the ground or in the air.

Don't take a loaded firearm into a house, vehicle or boat.

Don't set firearms down without unloading.

Don't jump or climb a fence or stream without unloading.

Don't shoot without knowing what you are shooting at.

Your hunter's license does not give you the right to hunt on posted land, reservations, parks or within the city limits. Land owners have a lawful and moral right to say who may hunt on their property. Respect rights and they will have more regard for you and your sport and recreation.

JEWISH PEOPLE TO RAISE LARGE RELIEF FUND

For the Sufferers in the War Zones of Europe and Asia Minor.

A campaign, the largest ever undertaken by the Jewish people of the U. S. is to be immediately started for the purpose of raising a fund of at least $10,000,000 to be applied to the relief of Jewish war sufferers in the war zones of Europe and Asia Minor. The campaign will be managed by the Joint Distribution Committee of Funds for Jewish War Sufferers, of which committee Felix M. Warburg is the chairman, and among the members of which are some of the most prominent American citizens of Jewish birth.

"The new campaign," the statement issued yesterday reads, which is the largest ever undertaken by the Jews of the United States in behalf of charity is to be instituted immediately upon the return to this country of Dr. Judah L. Magnes, who according to information just received, sailed from Europe on October 19, and is expected to arrive in New York this week. Dr. Magnes, who went abroad in July, armed with credentials from Secretary of State Lansing, to investigate the methods of distribution of vast sums of money raised in this country for the relief of the Jewish war sufferers, has been enabled to study exhaustively the conditions in all those countries under the control of Russian arms, but was prevented from entering Russia because of the fact that although he was born in the U. S. he was banished from the Czar's domains because of a misunderstanding of some of his addresses in which he quoted the speeches of several deputies in the Duma.

"Dr. Magnes has been enabled not only to learn the disposition of such funds as already have been contributed, but has gained first hand information as to the present needs of the Jewish people in Europe, who have fallen under the blight of the world holocaust. Aside from reporting to the joint distribution committee as to how the millions in contributions have been used, Dr. Magnes will indicate the continually increasing distress of the members of the race in Europe, and will suggest how and where the $10,000,000 fund, supplementary to what has already been collected and now in process of being gathered in, had been placed, in order to do the most practical and immediate good. Dr. Magnes has had the co-operation in his investigations of the highest officials of the governments of Germany and Austro-Hungary, with whom he has frequently consulted.

"Dr. Magnes will make his report to the American people at a mass meeting, probably to be held in Carnegie hall, as soon after his arrival as it is practicable to arrange it. At this meeting he will tell the actual conditions as seen by an eyewitness, affecting the Jews in the Central Empires, embodying his reports in the form of a personal narrative, that from letters which have been received by the committee since his departure, is expected to supply one of the most graphic stories of the unprecedented hardships and sufferings inflicted on members of the Jewish race, in all the warring countries, that has yet been unfolded.

TORPEDOED WITHOUT WARNINGSix Americans Lost When Steamship Marina Was Sunk by German Submarine.

Dublin, Ireland, via London, Nov. 1.—The British steamship Marina was torpedoed without warning, according to a statement made by American survivors of the vessel who arrived here from Bournemouth.

The survivors declared that two torpedoes were fired at the Marina and that the submarines watched the boats containing the survivors for half an hour without offering assistance. They said this in a statement to The Associated Press.

Six American lives were lost in the sinking of the Marina, the American consular at Bournemouth is informed, according to an unofficial dispatch. Of the 51 Americans reported rescued, at least two were injured.

It is reported that the Marina sank within ten minutes. A heavy sea was running at the time and up to the present, the number of lives lost is in doubt.

Colebrook Oct. 31.—The much mooted hotel closing question that Colebrook has been discussing of late, is apparently settled, as on the evening of the day set for closing the town's two hostleries, both are cheerfully emanating light and hospitality.

The hotel men announced two weeks ago that they had been offered $500 by prominent prohibitionists, if they would close their bars until May 1, 1917, starting October 31. To make sure there could be no dispute about earning the money, they said they would close the hotels October 31, but tonight the landlords are still doing business. No further public announcement was made, and from all appearances have no intention of closing their places.

BOTH PARTIES CLAIM MAJORITY OF VOTES

The Democratic National Committee claims 31 states for the coming election. These have 369 electoral votes. To elect 266 are required. The claim for Mr. Hughes is 27 states with 324 electoral votes.

The Democrats claim, and the Republicans admit, they will win these states of the solid South: Virginia, 12 electoral votes; North Carolina, 12; Tennessee, 12; South Carolina, 9; Georgia, 14; Florida, 11; Alabama, 12; Mississippi, 10; Arkansas, 9; Louisiana, 10; Texas, 20. Total 126.

The Republicans claim, and the Democrats admit, they will carry these states for Hughes: Wyoming, 3 electoral votes; Kansas, 10; Pennsylvania, 35; Vermont, 4; New Hampshire, 4; Maine, 6; Rhode Island, 5. Total 76.

Both Republicans and Democrats claim these states: Washington, 7 electoral votes; Arizona, 3; North Dakota, 5; Wisconsin, 13; Illinois, 29; Indiana, 11; Ohio, 24; New York, 43; New Jersey, 14; Delaware, 3; Connecticut, 7. Total 165.

The Republicans claim these states, but the Democrats declare the result in them to be doubtful: Oregon, 5 electoral votes; California, 13; Idaho, 3; Utah, 4; South Dakota, 5; Minnesota, 12; Iowa, 12; Michigan, 15; Massachusetts, 15. Total 85.

Democrats claim these states, which the Republicans declare doubtful: Nevada, 3 electoral votes; Montana, 4; Colorado, 6; Nebraska, 5; Oklahoma, 10; Missouri, 15; Kentucky, 13; West Virginia, 10; Maryland, 10. Total 78.

Admitted by both to be doubtful, New Mexico, 3.

These figures were obtained from members of the Republican and Democratic National Committees after the utmost urging. The Republican organization refused to have the figures declared the official prediction of the committee. Officers of the Democratic committee said theirs were official.

The sacrifices these nations have made in men, money and the very real risks and actual losses they have sustained.

Germany will lose all of Alsace and Lorraine without a doubt, further she is apt to lose all the left bank of the River Rhine from the Swiss frontier to the south of Coblenz. This north line will run from that city west of southwest to a point on the north frontier of Luxembourg. Only in this way can France be assured of sufficient iron and coal deposits for future armaments; also the Rhine will then be declared a waterway common to both nations.

Belgium will then take all the territory north of this frontier up to where the Rhine enters the Netherlands.

If Holland decides to come in herself by allowing Anglo-French troops to march on Berlin by way of Amstelveen, then she may well claim territory to the west of the river. Weser, that is, Oldenburg, and a part of Westphalia.

The Russians will certainly claim a part of West Prussia, including the winter part of Danzig, much of Posen and the rich mineral deposits of Silesia. England will, without doubt, destroy the island of Heligoland altogether and take all the Teutonic colonies. Whether she will give back some of West Africa depends solely upon the British ministry in office.

But these acquisitions will not be Germany's only losses; the conquering powers are very apt to insist upon Saxony, Bavaria and Wurttemberg becoming independent principalities.

Early in 1913 I predicted a vast struggle in Europe in the following year and gave the subject of territorial results much close study. Roughly, I said the war would last between three and four years and at the end Germany would be reduced to a second rate power.

I venture to believe that no neutral country which does not take part in the war, will be allowed to have any say in the partition. And this would appear to be only proper in view of again. It would appear that these southern German states would be far from loath to break away from Prussia and once more be allowed to develop in their own efficient and peaceable way.

"Austria-Hungary is liable to lose even more of her heterogeneous territory. The time is now near when Hungary will secede from the Dual Alliance, but most probably, not even allowing the time specified in the agreement to elapse, this will be when the Russians cross her plains the richest granary in Europe, and threaten Budapest.

"Then Austria will herself ask for a separate peace. But she will lose all of Galicia and Bukovina, including strategic positions on the Carpathians and very possible South Silesia, and Bohemia (which later may, however, become independent) to the Russians. She will lose the Trentino and Istria to the Italians together with several strategic islands on the Dalmatian coast; also she will of course, lose Bosnia and Herzegovina to Serbia.

"Even Hungary is sure to lose Transylvania to the Roumanians. So Austria will have soon become a second rate power, as well as Germany; she would have faced even worse had Germany won.

"Turkey will lose her last possession in Europe; one can only trust that the grand coalition decides to make the Dardanelles a neutral way under the guardianship of equal strength; in Asia she will be fairly sure of losing her territory of old Armenia to the Russians, who will thus make the Black Sea their lake.

"The Holy Land may be claimed internationally; but in any event, Bagdad will probably take Syria for her own and much of fertile Mesopotamia. Finally, Bulgaria will feel the weight of the Serbians; the present dynasty, as both Germany and Austria, may well no longer be tolerated. In any case she will be pretty sure to lose some of her river Danube frontage."

Tonight sure! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascarets from the drug store now? Eat one or two tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarets never gripe or bother you all the next day like calomel, salts and pills. They act gently but thoroughly. Mothers should give Cascarets, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascaret anytime. They are harmless and children love them.

Don't stay constipated with breath bad, stomach sour or a cold.

Enjoy life! Live your liver and bowels tonight and feel fine.

POPE'S APPEAL TO THE KAISER PROVES FUTILE

GERMANY'S ANSWER TO PROTESTS OF UNRESTRICTED SUBMARINING EVASIVE

Rome, Oct. 31.—Unofficial advices reaching here point to a resumption shortly by Germany of the most extensive employment of aircraft and submarine warfare against every nation allied against the Teutonic nations.

These reports come closely on the heels of reports here that Germany's replies to the Pope's protestations against unrestricted submarine and the renewed deportations from northern France and Belgium have been persistently evasive.

The Pope, these reports say, finally appealed to Emperor Franz Josef for his aid in influencing the Kaiser to accede to the Vatican's protestations.

WHITE PINES OF NEW ENGLAND IN DANGER FROM A DISEASE CARRIED BY CURRANT AND GOOSEBERRY BUSHES

Cooperation of Public Is Asked to Help Save Pines.

The White Pine Blister Rust has found its way into the New England States, and during the past few years has spread at an alarming rate. This disease has attacked white pines so seriously as to make their commercial culture impracticable in certain parts of Europe. Unlike the chestnut blight, which jumps from tree to tree, the blister rust spreads through the medium of currant and gooseberry bushes.

A meeting of state foresters and other officials in the Northeastern States was recently held in Fall River, Mass., to observe the serious damage caused by this disease to white pines in that locality. It was the unanimous opinion of this meeting that steps must be taken at once to inform all farmers and landowners in the pine regions of these states so that they may begin immediately the destroying of currant and gooseberry bushes in order to save the white pine. Concerted action is being taken in all the New England states and New York.

operation with the Bureau of Plant Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Agricultural Experiment Station, has carried on an extensive field investigation during the past summer to determine the extent of the disease in New Hampshire. Through this investigation a great deal of the disease was located in many parts of the state. Considerable cooperation has been accorded the State and Federal Agents by private owners in different sections of the State, but concerted action on the part of all is absolutely essential if this disease is to be successfully controlled and eradicated.

All owners of white pine will be interested in controlling this disease. The best way you can assist is by destroying at once (this fall) all wild and cultivated currant and gooseberry bushes on your land, and by encouraging your neighbor to do likewise. Without currants and gooseberries bushes this disease cannot spread among the white pine.

The White Pine Blister Rust is a fungus which attacks a portion of its life on white pine, and is visible on that tree from about the first of April until the latter part of June; while the remainder of the summer it is found on the underside of currant and gooseberry leaves, returning to the pine in the early fall.

The stage on the white pine shows up in the form of abnormal swellings on the branches, and these swellings after a time break open disclosing orange-colored blisters. These blisters contain tiny spores or germs which, when blown about by the wind to the leaves of neighboring currant and gooseberry bushes, here these spores germinate, and penetrating the leaf tissues, produce a rust on the underside of the leaves. There are two stages of the rust on currant and gooseberries, both of which can easily be identified.

The first stage, appearing in the early summer, is a bright orange in color and has a close resemblance to small particles of corn or Indian meal. This stage spreads only from currant and gooseberries to other currants and gooseberries, and from investigations during the past summer apparently travels a considerable distance in this manner.

The second, or fall stage, to be found on the currants, shows up in the form of brownish-colored hairs or horns, also on the underside of currant and gooseberry leaves, and this stage is the one which is capable of infecting pine. It must be remembered that this disease cannot spread directly from pine to pine, but must go from pine to currant or gooseberries and then back to pine, and this fact makes it possible to combat the disease with some assurance of success.

The value of the white pine in New Hampshire runs into many millions of dollars. Its manufacture provides employment for thousands of people. A few acres of good white pine is worth far more than all the currant and gooseberry bushes in the state.

It is the earnest hope that all public spirited persons in New Hampshire will proceed this fall to eradicate currant and gooseberry bushes on their land and to encourage the same in their communities. Do it NOW! Persons desiring further information on this disease or advice in regard to its eradication, should address the Forestry Commission, Concord, N. H.

NAVY DEPARTMENT WITH-DRAWS DEMAND

New York, Oct. 31.—The navy department, it was announced today, has withdrawn its demand that banks using the wireless to send messages to Europe shall file with the government censor copies of their secret, ciphers to be used for testing messages addressed by the banks to their foreign correspondent. Since the establishment of the wireless censorship the banks have willingly given the government copies of their codes, but they had not been required to supply the "key" to the signature, which is the sole test of the authenticity of the messages. If that cipher became known, bankers said, messages could be sent to any part of the world instructing the recipient to pay out money and there would be no way of preventing the fraud.

When this was explained to the navy department officials they decided to accept the suggestion that the banks instead of filing the test words, should merely give the wireless censors affidavits to the effect that the messages they sent contained no objectionable matter. The banks also agreed to preface the test word or figure with the notation "test."

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE NOTES

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Oct. 31.—Headed by the strictly non-partisan college band the New Hampshire College Hughes Club, reinforced by 150 members of the Dover Hughes club will march through the streets of Durham to the Gymnasium Wednesday night for the second Republican rally of the campaign. The delegation from Dover is to be paid a return call the following night when more than 100 of the college Republicans will go to Dover in a special train, provided by the Dover club to assist in a rally there.

In Durham the speakers will be Adolph Wagner of Manchester, Chas. Emerson of Milford and Dr. J. H. Neat of Portsmouth. The Dover program is not known here except that the college band will head the Durham delegation in the torch light parade and that all will be dined by the Dover club.

The canker in the New Hampshire orchards must go. C. L. Long of the extension service of the college who is now starting a campaign against the tremendously destructive orchard disease is being actively supported by the commissioner of agriculture, the state horticultural society and the master of the state grange. All are sending out circular letters pointing to the gravity of the situation, and all are enthusiastic in the work now being done.

Mr. Long is working through the county agents and the county farmer associations. Representatives are to be named in every town where there are orchards and in each county there will be special meetings. These are to be attended by the special representatives and by all whom they can interest in the work. They will follow demonstrations showing what this disease is doing to the trees and how it may be cured.

It is hoped that the entire state may be cleaned as today there is hardly a bearing orchard in New Hampshire which is not in some degree affected.

Only five full days in which to complete the campaigning for your favorite candidate.

"Do your Christmas shopping early" will soon be the slogan in place of the advice "to wait the fly."

SOUL AWAKENING! ARISE, O SLEEPER! Mankind's 6,000 Years' Sleep Soon to Be Broken.

The Sleep of Death—God's Call to Arise From the Dead—Sleeping in the Tomb—Sleeping Under Potions Administered by the Adversary—The Soul's Awakening—Responsibility of Parents and Teachers—"High Time to Awake"—Sleepy Christians.

Oct. 29.—Pastor Russell's sermon today was from the text, "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light."—Ephesians 5:14. The speaker applied his text in two senses—to the world in general and to the individual members of the race. Since the time when the death sentence passed upon all mankind because of Adam's sin, the human family have been going into the tomb. But from before the foundation of the world God had purposed the redemption of man and restitution of mankind through the death of His Son. "Therefore the Bible refers to death as a 'sleep,' out of which all will be awakened in the resurrection. But there is another sense in which people may be said to sleep. The majority seem to be going about as if in a dream, thinking merely of the trivialities of life—what to eat, to drink, to wear, to entertain self with, etc., instead of thinking of the weighty things—those that pertain to God, to the Divine will, to the future and everlasting life. These he urged to awake and to come to Christ, the great Light-giver of the world.

The importance of the beginning of the period of adolescence was emphasized. Parents and teachers should use much wisdom in their dealings with children at this crucial stage. When the child mind begins to wonder and question as never before, to look beyond childish diversions toward higher things, Christian parents especially have great responsibility along this line, both in regard to what they teach their children and in respect to the example which they set before the youthful mind entrusted to their care. Having learned the way of God themselves, they should endeavor to influence their children to do the same.

To those who have for years lived merely for the things of time and sense there sometimes comes a time of awakening. Perhaps life's experiences have brought them to a realization that there is something to live for better than they have heretofore seen. They come to realize that they are sinners needing a Savior; that they are helpless and need a Helper. Perhaps they get the right view, that the sentence resting upon fallen man is death; more likely they get the wrong view, that the sentence upon the race is eternal torment. But from the moment of awakening they face a crisis. Will they come to God and receive a blessing? Or will they wander off into greater darkness and be thereafter more difficult to reach than before?

After Awakening, Remain Awake! The Pastor reminded his audience that after one has awakened in the morning, it is very easy to turn over and fall asleep again. Upon a second awakening, the mind is more or less dull and stupid. So it is with those who fall asleep after having been awakened to a realization of higher and nobler things. They may be awakened a second time; but if so, the perceptions are likely to be less acute, the conscience less sensitive.

One who has awakened and begun to rise is in the attitude of soul to receive the light of Heaven. "Christ shall give thee light." "Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart." (Psalm 97:11.) Those in this attitude are approaching this condition. The dead are represented as prostrate. The act of rising is indicative of a change of attitude. The awakened one should at once seek to know what to do. He should begin to study God's Word. There he learns that Christ is the Way to God.

The soul must lay hold upon Jesus, by acceptance of the merit of His sacrificial death and by a complete surrender to God through Christ as the great Advocate. When he has taken this step, the light will begin to dawn upon him. Increasing light is his portion; for each step of obedience brings greater knowledge.

The world's judgment is future, not far off now, according to the prophecies of God's Word; but the Christian's judgment begins from the moment when he enters the Church of Christ. He is now on probation for eternal life. He has entered the School of Christ, to be perfected in character, made a copy of God's dear Son. (Romans 8:29.) Thus he is being prepared for the future Kingdom work—that of instructing, uplifting, blessing, the whole world of mankind, who died in Adam, but who are to be awakened and dealt with during the incoming Dispensation.

No starchy Christian will have a place in the Messianic Kingdom. God will have only those who are sober, wide-awake, watching unto prayer, keeping close to the Fountain of cleansing, going often to the Throne of Grace, claiming the efficacy of the precious blood of Christ.

FRANK W. KNIGHT SHOE TALKS

10 Market Sq. "Shoes of Quality." Portsmouth

EDITORIAL.

Though we are not yet ready to agree with manufacturers who say that a year from now no good leather shoes will be available under $10 a pair, it is unquestionably true that good leather is scarce and prices are rapidly rising.

We feel it worthy of note that in spite of present conditions we have been able to gather a stock of Footwear fashions which we have never surpassed and hardly ever equalled.

Also this is an opportune time to suggest that in footwear which has "cheapness" for its keynote, the purchaser is sure to get all that he bargains for.

Among people of sound principles and experience, the word "cheap" has been entirely eliminated with reference to dependable footwear. It has been tried and found sorely wanting.

FRANK W. KNIGHT

A New Autumn Boot

The "SOROSIS" $3.50-$7.00

Fashionable, yet simple and refined, it is one of the newest arrivals in Winter footwear.

The "SOROSIS," so named because it is an English walking boot, is of graceful contour, correct in every line and perfect in every detail of workmanship.

The "SOROSIS" is an excellent shoe for a dressy fall street costume. Its price is $3.50 to $7.00.

LIQUOR BARRED

Postmasters Are Warned Against Accepting Intoxicating Liquors for Transportation.

It is against the postal laws to send any booze by mail and the post-office department has sent out warning to all postmasters to the effect that under no circumstances will intoxicating liquors be accepted for transportation in this branch of Uncle Sam's service.

Numerous complaints have reached the department of late of the mailing of liquors and postmasters are instructed to stop the violation of postal laws and regulations.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR MANY YEARS

A Boston paper on Tuesday gave the name of a Knights Templar who has been a member of Newburyport Commandery for 50 years and stated he was the oldest Knights Templar in New England. DeWitt Clinton Commandery of this city can lay claim to several older members, among them being William W. Locke of Kittery, who has been a member 52 years, and William B. Martin of this city, who has been a member 57 years.

CHILDREN WITH LANTERN START LIVELY BLAZE

Fire Discovered by Men in Time to Check Headway.

Young people celebrating Halloween nearly caused a serious fire at the corner of Deer and Vaughan streets in the building occupied by Hop Lee as a Chinese Laundry on the first floor, and Luigi Rezzanti on the second as a dwelling.

The children left a lighted pumpkin in the rear hallway and went away from the building. The pumpkin, in some way was upset and started a lively blaze among a lot of shavings, paper and clothing. The fire was making good headway on the back stairs where the reflection was seen by Charles Johnson, an employee of the Morley Button Company who was standing on the opposite corner. Accompanied by another man he rushed into the building and threw much of the burning material into the yard. He then started the bucket brigade and made quick work of the fire. The work of Johnson was timely and with his assistant he prevented what might have been a bad fire.

THE HERALD HEARS

That an addition will be made to the Sinclair garage and the work will be started at once.

That the addition will include a machine shop and other space.

That all fire alarm boxes at Newburyport that have not been sounded for some time, must be tested monthly. A good idea.

That the poor man gets it again in the price of U. D. pipes.

That the friend of the poor man and many who are well-to-do now costs two cents.

That never before has the famous clay smoker cost more than one cent.

That a large number of men who receive no other legacy, inherit their politics from their fathers.

That General George Washington, President of the United States, visited this city 127 years ago on Monday.

That he came over the line from Massachusetts accompanied by two companies of cavalry.

That the new dimes ought to be coming this way soon.

That the revolving advertising sign in the window of the Portsmouth Trust and Guaranty Company is quite a novelty.

That one of the local coal companies has advanced the pay of the drivers.

That many ash barrels and window shutters were in the wrong place this morning.

That the kids never made more of Halloween than they did this year.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Miss Ruth Hassett Hostess to Twelve of Her Young Friends.

On Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 8, Miss Ruth Hassett daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Hassett of Congress street, entertained a number of her young friends at a Halloween party. The treat up to lunch was pleasantly passed with Halloween games and dancing. The surprise however came when the young hostess and her guests repaired to the dining room which had been decorated with orange pumpkin lanterns and other Halloween designs and presented a very handsome appearance, ice cream, cake, fancy cookies, etc., was served by Mrs. Hassett, assisted by Mrs. M. A. Higgins. In the center of the table was a huge pumpkin and as the guests around the festive board each pulled a string they were rewarded with a dainty Halloween gift from the centerpiece. The time for departure came altogether too soon for the youthful guests, who one and all voted Miss Ruth a charming hostess.

NORTH CHURCH

Guild Elects Officers and Outlines Plans for Coming Season.

The Guild of the North Church held a meeting at the Parish house Tuesday afternoon. The guild is the central organization of the church, plans the calendar for the year and manages the receptions.

A business meeting comprised the first of the afternoon and annual reports were heard from the presidents of the various societies:

Foreign Missionary Society, Miss Frances Mathes; Home Missionary Society, Mrs. Walter James; Home King's Daughters, Mrs. Robert Boyd; The Box Club, Miss Annie Verrill; Rogers Mission, Mrs. Thomas Noyes; The Mothers' Club, Mrs. William Walton.

Officers for the Guild for the coming year were elected and are as follows: President, Mrs. Lucius H. Thayer; vice president, Mrs. Edward Adams; secretary, Mrs. William Carter; treasurer, Mrs. Ida St. Clair.

After the meeting tea was served and a social time enjoyed. Miss Grace Conner was in charge of the refreshments. Tea was poured by Mrs. John Bachelder and Mrs. E. Curtis Matthews.

Beveret W. Emerson of Alton, just grand chancellor of the New Hampshire Knights of Pythias, was here on Wednesday in attendance at the U. S. court.

The Misses Margaret and Helen Kirkpatrick were hostesses at a Halloween party on Tuesday evening which occurred at their home on Wilbur street.

C. W. Lewis, supervisor of tracks of the Boston and Maine, and Division Superintendent John Bourke left today for several days' gleaning in the north country.

PUTTING ON THE ELECTRIC HEADLIGHT

Boston & Maine to Equip Engines on Through Trains.

The Boston and Maine has equipped the headlights of a few locomotives on through trains with electricity, and will as fast as possible place the same on all locomotives, with the exception of switching engines. The first seen on the eastern route of the Portland Division was that on the Flying Yankee, No. 102. The electricity is generated from a small turbine motor located on the boiler just outside the cab and will throw a ray of light for nearly a mile on straight track.

USUAL AMOUNT OF HALLOWE'EN PRANKS

The spirit of Halloween was in the air last night and mischievous pranks were reported in all parts of the city, keeping the "cops" on the alert. Ash barrels were overturned and hidden, bean blowers were quite in evidence, and pumpkin lanterns and ghosts could be seen in many neighborhoods.

In some instances property was damaged, but for the most part the youthful element confined itself to harmless pranks which were taken in a good-natured way by property owners.

OBITUARY

Dorothy Fogg.
Dorothy Fogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Fogg of Richards avenue, passed away Wednesday morning at Portsmouth hospital following an operation.

SAVES A BOY FROM WATERY GRAVE IN RIVER

Newton Spinney Makes Gallant Rescue Off Dock on Ceres Street.

Newton R. Spinney of Kittery, employed at the store of D. P. Northwick, made a gallant rescue of a young boy in the river this morning off the landing of the Atlantic Shore Railway on Ceres street. Spinney, while waiting for the 11 o'clock boat for Kittery, was attracted by cries of the lad overboard and looking over the edge of the dock saw him struggling in the water. The next instant Spinney, with only part of his clothing removed, plunged into the cold waters of the Piscataqua and saved the boy from a watery grave. The tide was running quite strong at the time and it was with much difficulty that Spinney made the rescue. The boy is Herbert Linchey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Linchey, residing at 86 High street, and fell into the river while playing on the brow of the landing used by the ferryboat Kittery.

SERVED SUPPER

Four Leaf Clover Club of Court St. Church Cater to Many.

The Four Leaf Clover Society of the Court Street Christian Church gave a supper last evening in the church vestry. Halloween coloring was used for decorating and the tables were prettily arranged suggestive of Halloween.

The menu was as follows:

Salmon Salad Potato Salad Cold Meats Olives Pickles Coffee Rolls Fancy Pies and Cakes

The entire supper was in charge of Mrs. Florence Shaw who is acting president of the society.

Miss Alice Grace, Miss Sarah Ham, Mrs. Cherry Brooke, Miss Florence Hatch, Mrs. May C. Caswell, served the supper.

The supper party was an entire success and a very large crowd was in attendance.

NOT IN POLITICS

One of the officials of the Little Bowery A. C. said today that the organization was not going into politics and that the report in circulation to that effect has no foundation. The club has some members on the political ticket for office, but as an organization it is not affiliated with any political party.
